RUM AND VODKA

Featuring John O'Callaghan. Written by Conor McPherson. Directed by Ed Sahely. July 9, 5pm; 10, 3:30pm; 12, 2pm.

An Irish man drinks and shags his way into insurmountable trouble in this flawlessly executed monologue by Irish wunderkind Conor McPherson. With nothing more than a chair, lighting and some musical queues, John O'Callaghan leads the audience through a three-day bender of drinking, fooling around with a rich girl named Myfamwy and throwing his computer through his boss' window. It's funny, too.
